

Total number of examples

The diagram illustrates the partitioning of a dataset. A horizontal double-headed arrow at the top spans the entire width of the diagram and is labeled 'Total number of examples'. Below this arrow, a horizontal bar represents the dataset, divided into two segments. The left segment is white and labeled 'Training Set', while the right segment is shaded light gray and labeled 'Test Set'. The segments are separated by a vertical black line.

Training Set

Test Set